Qiuya began her insurance career in 2018, working in the domestic insurance space where she developed a strong foundation in client service and policy management. She joined Rothbury in 2022, stepping into the commercial sector, where she is eager to broaden her expertise and work on building long lasting working relationships.

A firm believer that great communication and simplicity are key to success, Qiuya brings a thoughtful and approachable style to her work. Outside the office, she enjoys making the most of her downtime—relaxing, exploring new experiences, and embracing opportunities to try something different.
